

March Newsletter Zoofari

Hello Zoofari Families,

We were able to finish our “Who’s New at the Zoo” theme last month. We started our new theme of “Head, Shoulders, Knees, & Tails” at the end of the February. We had fun learning about the Hornbill birds and how they use their bill & feathers. We have some other new fun animals to learn about this series.

March 6: Tamandua (tail & tongue)

March 13: Red Panda (feet)

March 20: Rattlesnake (tail)

March 27: Fennec Fox (ears & feet)

We will be creating a texture book with this theme. The book will have some facts about each animal and then a picture of the animal that has a feature to touch (ex. Feathers, sticky tongue).

As the children learn new animals, you can ask some of the following questions extend their knowledge:

1. How do they eat?
2. Why are their (bills, ears, feet, tongue, &/or tail) special?
3. How do they protect themselves?

Thank you for sharing your children with us! Can’t wait to explore some more animals!
